

Hinds Hospice Expands Services for Pediatric Patients

No parent wants to envision a child developing a life-limiting diagnosis, and the reality of caring for a terminally ill child at home is incredibly challenging. Until recently, Hinds Hospice was unable to provide reimbursable hospice support unless the family stopped life-sustaining treatments and the child's prognosis was six months or less. Now, new governmental benefits allow Hinds Hospice to provide covered services even if the child receives life-sustaining treatments and is likely to live beyond six months.

With the new regulatory changes in effect, Hinds Hospice is now serving 20-25 children daily thanks to a small but highly skilled pediatric team led by David Sine, MD. About half of the pediatric patients receive the new federal "hospice and concurrent care" benefit. The rest receive palliative care through California's "Partners for Children" (PFC) program. Hinds Hospice is the only local PFC-approved hospice and only one of two Fresno hospices serving children through the federal benefit program.

Founder Nancy Hinds has always emphasized the honor and privilege the Hinds Hospice staff feel when they are invited to walk the hospice journey with a patient and their family. This great privilege is never more evident than when our pediatric staff cares for a new patient and family. Victoria Cruz-Hernandez, a social worker for our Pediatric

Care Team says, "People often ask, 'how are you able to sit by the bedside of a dying child and provide support for a mother facing her worst fear?' As a parent and as a social worker my response is, 'how can I know that there are families in our community facing the terminal diagnosis of a child and not be willing to be there in that moment with them?' I am just grateful that they trust me enough to look to me for support during this unbelievably difficult time in their lives."

To strengthen pediatric services, Hinds Hospice created a 12-month project, training clinicians to provide back-up support to the pediatric team. The project also increases revenue and expands covered services by transitioning PFC patients to the federal program whenever possible.

Hinds Hospice gratefully acknowledges community support of this project, including grants from the Fansler Foundation ($53,593), the Bennett Family Fund of the Fresno Regional Foundation ($42,000) and the Central CA Women's Conference ($1,000).

NEWS UPDATE • SUMMER/FALL 2015

Dear Friends,

We find ourselves busier than ever as we continue to grow in response to our patient and community needs! We have settled into our new home at 2490 W. Shaw in Fresno quite well. We are currently moving our Center for Grief and Healing to the second floor to accommodate the need for more space, and with lots of natural light we hope that this will be a perfect environment to facilitate healing for our clients. With a more private back entrance and a calm and tranquil atmosphere, we hope that this location will allow us to grow our bereavement services and meet the expanding need in our community.

I am also pleased to announce the addition of a new Medical Director to lead our clinical teams. Dr. Hailu joins Hinds Hospice with a wealth of experience as a family practice physician and just completed a one year fellowship in Palliative Care from UCSF in June. Dr. James Simmons will also join our team in August as a part time hospice physician and also completed his fellowship in Palliative Care. Both Dr. Hailu and Dr. Simmons became familiar with our staff and facilities as fellows serving under Dr. Sue Yie, our former Medical Director. Dr. Yie relocated back to Southern California and we are very grateful for her years of service to Hinds Hospice and our patients.

Several other organizational changes are in progress as well. We are pleased to announced the addition of our new Director for Social Work and Chaplain Services, Connie Pulmano. Connie has joined the team with hospice experience and she is already distinguishing herself through her wise and thoughtful guidance on issues related to supportive services. Lynne Pietz our Major Gifts and Donor Relations Director has assumed a new role as leader of one integrated Development Department. Lynne has been with Hinds Hospice for 5 years and has a wealth of background and experience in Development.

Our hospice home has been reopened now for 6 months and we have introduced the use of the electronic medical record in keeping with the nationwide move for electronic charting to improve patient safety and quality of documentation. Our staff has received extensive training in how to document electronically while maintaining the patient and human touch that sets Hinds Hospice apart.

Our Merced office has been focusing on the growth of hospice services and the Angel Babies and bereavement programs. The recruitment and retention of compassionate, competent staff is a high priority for them as we grow the program in Merced.

We are currently preparing for our first 3 year accreditation visit from the Joint Commission. Joint Commission is an agency that surveys health care facilities to monitor compliance with best practice standards in the many areas such as leadership, performance improvement, emergency preparedness, provision of care, and many more. We were very proud to announce after we had our first initial survey in October of 2012 that we received accreditation status. This is an essential step for Hinds Hospice to remain competitive and demonstrate that we provide the highest level quality of care and services to our patients and families.

Nancy Hinds continues to support the work we do at Hinds Hospice and her latest adventure is to work with our staff in the hospice home to focus on the sacred calling of our work. Laurie Primavera, our Executive Director for Clinical Services, our staff, and I are so happy to have her support in this continued effort.

Lastly, we are so grateful to all who support Hinds Hospice. You are the reason we are able to continue to serve those in our community and your support helps to encourage us to continue this much needed work! Thank you for all that you do to support the mission.

Respectfully,

Amy R. Tolin RN CEO

Community Spotlight

Every year, dozens of outside organizations and individuals help to fundraise and spread awareness about Hinds Hospice and our mission. We are eternally grateful for their tireless efforts on our behalf. Without these groups and individuals, we would not be able to meet our fiscal fundraising & outreach goals each year and they play an integral part in furthering our mission. Each Newsletter, we would like to take a moment to say “thank you” to a featured event, fundraising effort or individual, knowing that each one is important and has our heartfelt gratitude.

Victor Dominguez, along with his wife Annette and daughters Sarah and Sophia, participated in this year’s Angel Babies Walk/Run on Saturday, May 2, 2015. Along with family and friends, the Dominguez family formed “Team Never Forgotten - Immanuel Victor Dominguez” in memory of their angel baby, Immanuel Victor Dominguez. Immanuel passed away on April 25, 2014 and the Hinds Hospice Angel Babies program provided support for the entire family to grieve and process the devastating loss of precious Immanuel.

The Dominguez family set the goal to raise $1,000 in memory of Immanuel and they were hoping to earn a memorial brick honoring their son. Victor realized that his goal was ambitious and admitted when he originally set out to raise the money, “I didn’t know how we were going to get there,” Victor said. With a little ingenuity and hard work, Victor formulated a plan: he would sell brownies to his coworkers at Adventist Medical Center in Hanford. As an Admittance Clerk at the facility, Victor encountered a lot of people willing to support his team and many of his co-workers purchased multiple brownies for $1 each. For months the Dominguez house smelled of brownies and daily batches were made and sold to friends and family willing to support the cause. After countless brownies, Team Never Forgotten- Immanuel Victor Dominguez reached their goal, raising a total of $1,050.00 for Immanuel and securing the memorial brick in his memory. The Dominguez family is already looking to next year, with a higher fundraising goal to continue support families like their own who have lost a baby too soon.

Knowing Your Patient Rights

All patients have legal rights related to making their own health care decisions including choosing the hospice care provider they prefer. In order for a patient to make the most informed decision possible, consider asking your physician and/ or hospital for a list of hospice providers in your area. It’s important to remember that a patient, and that patient’s family, always has the right to choose the service provider that best meets their needs.

Once an individual is admitted to hospice, the patient has the right to be notified in writing of his or her rights and obligations before hospice care begins. Consistent with California laws the patient’s family or guardian may exercise the patient’s rights when the patient is unable to do so. Hospice organizations have an obligation to protect and promote the rights of their patients and families. An example of some of the patient’s rights that are important to remember are:

- Patients have the right to participate in developing their individualized plan of care.
- Patients have the right to refuse services and be advised of the consequences of refusing care without fear of reprisal.
- Patients have the right to request a change in hospice providers at any time without fear of reprisal.
- Patients have the right to voice grievances to the hospice providing their care, the state or federal authorities, without fear of discrimination or reprisal for having done so.
- Patients have the right to privacy and confidentiality.
- Patients have the right to be informed of the extent to which payment may be expected from Medicare, MediCal or any other payor know to the hospice organization.
- Patients have the right to safe, quality care in addition to ethical care

Circle of Friends Support Group Expands to Madera and Merced Counties

26 Years of Loving Support for Grieving Children

When Godfrey Hinds passed away leaving Nancy Hinds with three small children, Nancy faced the painful task of helping her children cope with the loss of their father. This experience convinced her of the need for programs supporting grieving children. The Circle of Friends program emerged as a solution, helping children aged 3-12 deal with the loss of a loved one. Modeled on a well-researched program developed in the 1950’s, the Circle of Friends pairs children with teen and young adult mentors trained and supervised to assist. The program has had an extraordinary impact. For example, “V”, a Circle of Friends graduate describes why she returned as a mentor: “The Circle of Friends really made a difference... I felt safe with my Special Friend [mentor], special, like I fit in. Without the Circle of Friends, I would never have become the person I am today, graduating from high school and attending CSU Fresno.”

Kathy Phillips, MSW, LCSW, PPSC has led the program since 1989, supervising three 10-12 week Circle of Friends cycles in Fresno each year at the Patient & Family Service Center. Approximately 10-20 children participate each session.

“My favorite part is watching the bond between the children and special friends grow, witnessing the growth from uncertainty to bravery in sharing feelings and experiences,” Kathy said.

Thanks partly to a grant from the Red and Nancy Arnold Foundation, Hinds Hospice is pleased to be able to bring the Circle of Friends program to children in Madera and Merced counties, offering a total of nine cycles per year in three counties. David Silveira, MSW, ACSW, Director, Merced Center for Grief & Healing is leading the new programs based on the Fresno model. Families are not charged when children participate; Hinds Hospice relies upon help from the community to cover the costs of the program.

The Merced program started in June, 2015 at the Hinds Hospice/Merced satellite office with five participants. The new Madera program will begin in September at the Star Center located at 109 E Central Ave, Madera CA.
